

MAKE HAWAIIAN FEATURES LEAD CARNIVAL WEEK

Promotion Committee Recommends Unique and Distinctive Attractions be Planned

Members of the Promotion Committee stopped "promoting" for a short time yesterday afternoon and, speaking as individuals, expressed their opinions regarding the 1916 Mid-Pacific Carnival, and what Honolulu and the rest of Hawaii has to offer in making the project a success.

Thornton Hardy, executive secretary of the Carnival, asked the promotion workers for their opinions, and they gave them freely. Their decision was unanimous in agreeing that in Honolulu there is a wealth of material from which the Carnival officials may draw.

Secretary Hardy read the following excerpt from a letter from Maj. Gen. William H. Carter to J. P. C. Hagens, president of the Carnival:

"In the long run, the success of the Carnival will depend upon utilizing the unique advantages possessed by Honolulu in its Oriental and other peoples of special interest to tourists. A briefer period and a greater use of local color for the Carnival seem to me of prime importance."

George H. Angus, who is a member of the Promotion Committee and a Carnival director, declared that in Hawaii there is a wealth of material such as perhaps will be found nowhere else in the world. The visitors, he said, want to see the individuals the islands have to offer, and not what they have seen and seen again on the mainland. That the Hawaiian note should be emphasized was the opinion of D. P. R. Isenberg.

Albert P. Taylor, secretary of the Promotion Committee, said that, in his opinion, the events in past Carnivals which have made the deepest impressions were the Japanese lantern parade, the procession of island princesses and pa-u riders and the Hawaiian pageants.

The promotion men unanimously agreed that in connection with the 1916 Carnival there should be a water carnival similar to that of last year. Mr. Isenberg went on record as being opposed to any "carnival within a fence," referring to Judge Henry E. Cooper's plan for an enclosed Carnival city.

The Carnival directors were to meet this afternoon and consider the opinions and suggestions voiced by the members of the Promotion Committee.

FILIPINO BOY DROWNS FISHING NEAR LIHUE

LIHUE, Kauai, Nov. 1.—Rohao, a Filipino boy 18 years of age, was drowned while fishing in Hanalei stream near this place on Thursday of last week. He was wading in the stream and diving at intervals, according to the testimony of a Hawaiian woman and several Filipino boys who watched him from the bank. After one disappearance, thought to have been due to a dive, he did not reappear and the alarm was given. The body was found near where the boy was last seen alive.

GRAND JURY TO PROBE CASE OF J. MARCALLINO

the 1600 shares of stock, the property of the Egan estate, which were held in trust, as he was invested with the power of attorney of J. J. Egan, now on the mainland.

One theory voiced today was that Marcallino's original theft of stock was for about $10,000; that in order to cover his peculations he had to pay $125 a month dividends, and that soon he found he would be forced to secure more money to continue his payments. The next theft increased the amount of dividends he had to send to Egan to cover up his embezzlements and as time went on he had to take more and more of the stock and sell it to hide his misdeeds.

Marcallino's motive for the alleged embezzlement also has been made the subject of much conjecture. It was learned today that Marcallino, aside from earning a moderate salary as court clerk, received a considerable additional income from work which he did in the appraisal of various estates, and acting as master in handling the reports of the accounts of estates. Only recently he was awarded a fee of $250 for rendering a master's report.

Circuit Judge Whitney had no further statement to make today regarding the matter. Although no successor to Marcallino has been appointed, it is understood that A. Kalo, Aon, deputy clerk and bailiff, may land the job.

Continuance until November 6 was granted this morning when the case of John Marcallino was called in Judge Monsarrat's court, the motion for continuance being made by Robert W. Breckons, who appeared as Marcallino's attorney.

Breckons asked for the continuance. It is said, so that the preliminary hearing might be dispensed with, as he expects a grand jury indictment, which will make a hearing before Judge Monsarrat unnecessary. In the complaint against Marcallino he is charged with selling stocks in the Oahu Railway and Land Company and in the Honolulu Brewing & Malting Company, valued at $30,000 and the property of J. J. Egan. The complaint alleges that the stock was sold during a period of five years prior to November 2, 1915.

NEW VESSEL FOR MATSON LINE TO BE TWIN SCREW

"Makiki" is Name Which Will Probably Be Chosen for Duplicate of Matsonia

Twin-screw, geared turbine drive and with probably three or four knots more speed than the Matsonia, this is the latest news concerning the big new steamer, a duplicate of the Matsonia, to be built immediately by the Matson Navigation Company, as announced by the Star-Bulletin several weeks ago. The new steamer's name will probably be the Makiki.

This latest detail concerning construction of the new steamer was made public today, by T. H. Petrie, secretary of Castle & Cooke, local Matson agents. The company received a letter yesterday from Capt. William Matson, president of the Matson Navigation Company, containing the information that the new liner would be twin-screw and turbine drive.

"I wanted another ship which would duplicate the Matsonia," says Capt. Matson's letter in part, "except that it would be of geared turbine drive and twin-screw."

That the name of the big new boat, which will cost more than $1,600,000, the Matsonia's original price, will probably be the Makiki, although it is not yet definitely known, was stated by Mr. Petrie, who said that company's policy now is to begin the names of its future boats with the letter M, and that it is naming the new ships after the Honolulu valleys.

"They started with the Manoa," he observed this morning, "and if they follow this rule the new steamer will be named Makiki, the name of the first valley this side of Manoa. Of course we don't know positively as yet just what its name will be, but Makiki looks the most likely at the present time."

Mr. Petrie said the new steamer will contain a number of improvements, such as a different arrangement of staterooms, dining saloon, kitchen and other features which experience has shown could be improved in another ship duplicating the Matsonia in size.

The Matsonia's speed is 15 knots. Shipping men agree that geared turbine drive and twin screw should give the new steamer 18 or 19 knots easily. The twin-screw plan also makes for greater security in case one of the propellers should break.

Ten more che-fa cases continued by Judge Monsarrat this morning to November 9 bring the total number of charges of "having tickets in possession" which are set for that day to 27. Whether or not the accused in these cases are punished depends on the decision of Judge Monsarrat as to the criminality of having a ticket in possession, when it is not shown what bank the ticket is on and what time the drawing takes place.

A Full Measure of Health is the reward of those who live right and eat right.

And as fresh air, exercise, and good food are the principal factors, it is important that food be selected which contains the essential nutritive elements in well-balanced, easily digestible form.

In making the famous wheat and barley food, the malting of the barley brings out the diastase (the digestive element) while the long 20-hour baking breaks down the starch cells of the grains. Thus Grape-Nuts does not tax the digestion, but actually assists in the assimilation of other foods.

Grape-Nuts
